B.C. Grits To Pick Chief At Kamloops Convention

The British Columbia Liberal leadership convention will be held in Kamloops early in October, provincial party president Lawrence C. Jolivet said Sunday in Revelstoke. He said a meeting of officers will be held at Liberal headquarters in Vancouver Thursday to set dates for meetings of riding executives and the provincial executive. The leadership became vacant when Ray Perrault resigned his seat in the provincial legislature to successfully defeat national New Democratic Party leader T. C. Douglas in the Burnaby-Seymour riding in the June 25 federal election.

Conservative right-winger Duncan Sandys, a former Commonwealth minister, has called for a virtual whites-only immigration policy in Britain. Sandys said Britain should shut off all permanent immigration from Commonwealth and foreign countries except for those nations which take a large proportion of British emigrants. By this, Sandys said, he meant Canada, Australia, New Zealand and the U.S. Apart from these countries, Sandys said, temporary entry permits should be granted to students and other persons whose services are necessary.

for arms, claiming that Soviet weapons supplied to India have upset the balance of power in the Indian subcontinent. Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi said last week there were indications the U.S.S.R. might ship arms to Pakistan, and that such a move would be dangerous.

In New Milford, Conn., Westbrook Van Voorhis, voice of The March of Time, died after a long illness. He was 64. Van Voorhis narrated The March of Time radio series from its beginning in 1935 until its end in the 1950s. He also narrated the movie short version.

Authorities said they brought Bobby L. Rogers, accused of slaying three men in suburban Bronx, back to New York City from North Carolina Sunday night and were holding him incommunicado. Rogers, chief assistant district attorney of the Bronx, said Rogers, 31, would be arraigned on homicide charges today.

The Soviet Union indicated Sunday it will continue to woo President de Gaulle despite bitter criticism of his rule by the French Communist party. In a Bastille Day message to the French leader, President Nikita Khrushchev called for expanding co-operation between the two countries in the interests of Franco-Soviet friendship and European and international security.

Liberal MP Ray Perrault charged in Vancouver that the Social Credit party is using his name to try Sunday win votes for Social Credit. He said Social Credit is distributing literature in the North Vancouver-Capilano by-election campaign that says: "Ray Perrault To Help Bennett in B.C." He said the pamphlet goes on to quote a newspaper interview in which Mr. Perrault said he's prepared to serve as a go-between for the provincial and federal governments. Mr. Perrault said "there's a big difference between trying to get things done for the province and helping Bennett."

A young Mexican fisherman, rescued after drifting 534 miles in a tiny rowboat in the Gulf of Mexico, said Sunday he tried to commit suicide during his 18-day ordeal. "I had given up all hope," said Carlos Prado Uribe, 20, who survived on dead fish and rain water.

An autopsy has disclosed a four-year-old British Columbia girl found dead inside a refrigerator near Lynden, Wash. Sunday morning was sexually assaulted. The child was identified as Joanne Marie Moses, daughter of Abraham Scheena and Ruth Moses of Merritt. The couple, in their 20s, had been living in a migrant workers camp at a berry farm just northwest of Lynden. Four men were being held without charge by the sheriff's office in connection with the death.

Four of Scotland's toughest youth gangs have handed over their razors and meat cleavers to police under a "disarmament" amnesty arranged by an English pop singer in Glasgow. Frankie Vaughan met separately with the four ringleaders last week and persuaded them to lay down their arms. In return, Vaughan promised them money and other aid to build a youth centre run by the teen-agers themselves.

Miss Universe likes both her hair and her skirts long. The 5-foot-8, 130-pound beauty says she likes mini-skirts but on other girls. "On me I think they're ugly because I am tall," she said.

Miss Vasconcellos has definite ideas about her future. After she hands over her crown next year, she'll go home to her childhood sweetheart, Reynaldo Lou-Reiro, an engineer. "We'll marry as soon as I can," she said.

Friday she will fly home to see her fiance and her family in Salvador where her father is a police official.

Miss Curacao, Anne Marie Braafheid, was the first runner-up and would become the first Negro to wear the world beauty crown should Miss Vasconcellos be unable to meet her commitments.

The other three finalists were Miss Finland, Leena Brustin; Miss Venezuela, Peggy Kopp; and Miss USA, Dorothy Anstett.

Berry Pickers 'Exploited'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A statement by the British Columbia Federation of Labor that Fraser Valley berry pickers are being exploited by "unscrupulous" farmers was endorsed Sunday by Canada Manpower spokesman Murray Perry who said that some farmers are not observing minimum wage and employment standards.

SEARCH ABANDONED CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C. (CP)—Police have abandoned a search for Reginald Des Marais, 61, of Campbell River who is missing and presumed drowned in a boating mishap near Cortes Island, 12 miles east of this Vancouver Island centre. His 12-foot boat was found empty Wednesday, 11 hours after he set out on a fishing trip.

BOAT BLAZE VANCOUVER (CP)—The crew of the New Westminster tug Swiftsure II Sunday plucked Jack Cave off his burning 27-foot sailboat in a rescue off Bowen Island in Howe Sound. The sailor was uninjured but the boat burned to the water line and sank.

AIRPORT OPENED CRANBROOK, B.C. (CP)—About 2,000 persons jammed the new $3,000,000 Cranbrook Airport near the southern terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railway for its official opening. The facility will be able to handle Canadian Pacific Airlines new short-range Boeing 737s which are expected to be in use in early 1969.

HALL OF FAME ROSSELAND, B.C. (CP)—Rossland Historical Museum Association has petitioned the provincial government to establish an official British Columbia hall of fame in this southeastern British Columbia community's museum. The petition suggests a grant be made to build a ski wing on the existing building and name the wing for World Cup ski champion Nancy Greene.

TALKS MAY RESUME NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Officials of striking Local 381 of the Canadian Union of Public Employees said Sunday that talks in the dispute could resume Tuesday if council accepts a mediation offer from Rev. John Pitt, an Anglican minister. Mr. Pitt said he is hopeful he will receive a reply from Mayor Stuart Gifford on his mediation offer today.

Heart Switches 'Must Go On'

CAPE TOWN (AP)—The pioneers of human heart transplants have rejected any suggestion to halt all such surgery until more is known about keeping the patient alive after the operation.

In the South African city where Dr. Philip Blaiberg has lived nearly 6½ months with a transplanted heart—longer than any other recipient—13 surgeons from nine countries are exchanging ideas today at a medical symposium.

Many said more heart transplants must be performed in efforts to solve the immunological problem—how to prevent rejection of the transplanted organ without drastically reducing the patient's resistance to infection.

McCarthy's campaign headquarters asked the local group to desist, saying the senator's candidacy "is for the Democratic nomination and for no other."

Joseph E. Diroff started the abortive petition drive last Friday, setting up a table to gather signatures opposite one where backers of former Alabama governor George Wallace were doing the same thing.

McCarthy's campaign headquarters asked the local group to desist, saying the senator's candidacy "is for the Democratic nomination and for no other."

He pointed out that 61,000 signatures are required by July 29, and that the convention actions won't be known by then.

In deferring to McCarthy's wishes Sunday, Diroff said he would wait until after the convention in August and then launch a sticker campaign for write-in votes, if necessary.

He said that while this wouldn't get McCarthy's name on the ballot it would allow him to stand for election as a Democrat rather than as an independent.

Soviet Muscle Stays On As Czech Trend Debated

WARSAW (AP) The departure of Russian troops from Czechoslovakia was delayed again today as leaders of other Soviet-bloc nations met in Warsaw to discuss what to do about the liberal movement in Prague.

In Prague, official news media said heavy weekend traffic caused the delay in the pull-out of Soviet troops. They announced the withdrawal would resume tonight or Tuesday, but the delay was considered a new pressure on the new leadership of the Czechoslovak Communist party.

It was the second postponement of the troop withdrawal since Saturday. Some 5,000 Soviet soldiers arrived in Czechoslovakia last month for two weeks of Warsaw pact manoeuvres that ended June 30. Their continued presence set off a wave of jitters among Czechs who viewed it as an implied threat to Prague's liberalized regime.

The Prague government announced last week that 35 per cent of the Russian troops had left. One Soviet troop convoy crossed into East Germany Saturday, but after that the troop movement stopped.

In Warsaw, Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev met for the second day with top party leaders from Poland, East Germany, Hungary and Bulgaria.

Czechoslovakia and Romania, another independent-minded member of the bloc, were not represented.

The Polish and East German leaders have shown particular concern about the course the new Prague regime is taking because both Poland and East Germany have had anti-government outbreaks since the death of Stalin.

FEAR LIBERAL SPREAD Wladyslaw Gomulka, of Poland and Walter Ulbricht of East Germany fear the ferment in Czechoslovakia will spread to their people, and they also are upset about the improved prospects for diplomatic and trade relations between West Germany and Czechoslovakia.

An ominous note was sounded in advance of the meeting by the Polish Communist party newspaper Trybuna Ludu, which called for a "firm rebuff" against "reactionary forces" and "imperialist manoeuvres" in Czechoslovakia.

As an example of "imperialist subversion," it cited the declaration issued by a number of Czechoslovak liberals and intellectuals calling for strikes and demonstrations to push the liberalization drive faster.

Bastille Day Celebrations Marred By Student Rioters

PARIS (AP)—Sporadic clashes between police and young demonstrators punctuated Bastille Day celebrations Sunday night in the Latin Quarter, where crowds of tourists had massed for an evening of merry-making.

Small groups of students jeered the several thousand hotel police massed along Boulevard St. Michel, on the watch for leftist disturbances. The police hurled tear gas grenades at the hecklers and launched several baton charges. A number of persons were injured.

There were few disturbances in the capital during the day when thousands turned out in drizzling rain to watch the annual parade reviewed by President de Gaulle in his brigadier-general's uniform. With de Gaulle were Premier Maurice Couve de Murville and other members of the new cabinet.

After reviewing the troops at the Arc de Triomphe, de Gaulle rode down the Champs Elysees in an open car despite the rain, acknowledging the cheers of the crowd.

Later the president stood in a covered stand and watched units from all branches of the French armed forces march past.

There were scattered riots throughout the capital Saturday night, and about 20 persons were injured, including seven policemen.

Violence also broke out in Besancon, where someone set fire to the parade reviewing stand and in Bordeaux, where two police stations were attacked with Molotov cocktails.

The petition, bearing 152 signatures and sent to Michel Ruchon, president of the Syndicat general du cinema et de la television (CNTV), also expresses approval of a French-language CBC television reporter's description of the riot.

The description led to the CBC's re-assignment of Claude Jean Devireux because, the network corporation said, he has shown partiality in concentrating on the use of physical force by the police in breaking up a separatist demonstration.

The re-assignment was followed in turn by cancellation of CBC French-language coverage of the June 25 federal election and a temporary blackout of French-language news reports on the network.

New Miss Universe Steps Out Into Another Sort Of World

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Martha Vasconcellos, a bright-eyed schoolteacher from Brazil, walks into a new world today as Miss Universe.

With a wave of her sceptre, a nod of her sparkling crown and a losing effort to fight back happy tears, Miss Vasconcellos ascended her throne Saturday night. She was chosen the loveliest of girls from 65 countries.

Among the competitors was Miss Domino of Canada, Nancy Wilson of Chatham, Ont., a 19-year-old blue-eyed blonde. She did not reach the finals.

Until next July when she returns to Miami Beach to hand her crown to Miss Universe 1969, Miss Vasconcellos will spend her time in world travel earning the $10,000 she is promised in a personal appearance contract.

In addition, the crown carries an award of $10,000, a $7,500 chinchilla jacket and stacks of lesser prizes.

SHE'S LONELY But the 12 months of merry-go-round activity have hardly started and already Miss Vasconcellos admits, despite the admiring hordes: "I am lonely. I am without my family for the first time."

Miss Universe likes both her hair and her skirts long. The 5-foot-8, 130-pound beauty says she likes mini-skirts but on other girls. "On me I think they're ugly because I am tall," she said.

Miss Vasconcellos has definite ideas about her future. After she hands over her crown next year, she'll go home to her childhood sweetheart, Reynaldo Lou-Reiro, an engineer. "We'll marry as soon as I can," she said.

Friday she will fly home to see her fiance and her family in Salvador where her father is a police official.

Miss Curacao, Anne Marie Braafheid, was the first runner-up and would become the first Negro to wear the world beauty crown should Miss Vasconcellos be unable to meet her commitments.

The other three finalists were Miss Finland, Leena Brustin; Miss Venezuela, Peggy Kopp; and Miss USA, Dorothy Anstett.

TODAY'S STOCK QUOTATIONS

Write-In Set For McCarthy

WEYMOUTH, Mass. (AP)—A petition drive aimed at assuring Eugene McCarthy a place on the November election ballot has been dropped, but local supporters say they'll launch a write-in campaign instead if he fails to win the Democratic presidential nomination.

Joseph E. Diroff started the abortive petition drive last Friday, setting up a table to gather signatures opposite one where backers of former Alabama governor George Wallace were doing the same thing.

College Plans For Kamloops Familiar Story

Kamloops civic and education officials are continuing their efforts to have a regional college established in the area and the story has a familiar ring.

The Mainline people's work to date indicates lessons have been learned from problems encountered in establishing the Okanagan Regional College.

Following is a story which appeared in the Kamloops newspaper late last week:

A brief on the proposed Mainline-Cariboo regional college will be presented to the B.C. government Tuesday.

If the brief is acceptable, the minister of education will give permission to call a public plebiscite on the college.

College committee co-ordinator Jack Harrison, made the announcement in a statement dealing with a recent meeting of the Regional and District College Association of B.C.

which was held in Vancouver. The brief will be presented by the regional college committee which will "urge the approving authorities to proceed with as much speed as is possible."

The meeting passed a resolution to explore ways and means of improving the finance-sharing formula for regional colleges. This work is to be done in co-operation with the new minister of education.

"This improvement would be particularly useful if applied to operating costs, which at this time would be the main consideration while secondary school premises were being used," said Mr. Harrison's release.

The bylaw, approved by five school boards, allows for the use of secondary school facilities on a temporary basis to get the college operational.

Same Deal As In Okanagan

Dean Goard, principal of the B.C. Institute of Technology outlined arrangements made between BCIT and the Okanagan Regional College and "expressed willingness to negotiate similar arrangements with other colleges."

Mr. Goard explained to the meeting how a college could provide a group of basic first year programs within the scope of initial local facilities.

Basic first year courses would lead to second year programs offered by BCIT. This would save the local area the costs of equipment necessary for the program in a course's second year," he said.

Mr. Goard further stated that BCIT would send personnel to assist in setting up this type of program and loan instructors to teach in this area if required.

Regarding post-grade 12 industrial training Mr. Harrison stated, "I feel that now is the time for further pressure to be applied to ensure that the Kamloops Vocational School is not delayed. It will play a vital role in conjunction with the regional college."

"I shall be asking the regional college committee, the Kamloops school board and Kamloops city council to make representations urging the government to expedite work on the vocational school so it may become operational at the same time as our regional college."

The release, optimistic in tone, said approval to start Okanagan and Capilano colleges this September and New Caledonia (Prince George) and Vanisi (Vancouver Island Central) colleges September 1969 has been granted.

It also stated that eight school districts in the Lower Mainland are approaching bylaw stage in a plan for a regional college with satellite campuses.

The report on the meeting said discussion on the relationship between secondary and regional college courses had taken place.

It said: "The thought was expressed that some modification would be needed in some secondary courses or programs."

Two Motorists To Hospital After Six Weekend Mishaps

Six accidents were reported to the RCMP during the weekend, with injuries occurring in two separate incidents.

Drivers in a two-car collision Saturday at Harvey Avenue and Richter Street at 11:30 p.m., were Allister MacMain, and Richard Andres, both of Rutland. Damage was estimated at $2,000. Police said there were minor injuries to occupants of both vehicles. Mr. MacMain was taken to the hospital by ambulance but was not admitted overnight. Mrs. MacMain suffered an injured foot. No further details were available.

A car driven by Kent Stevenson, Winfield, failed to negotiate a curve on Valley Road, a half-mile from Glenmore Road, Friday at 9:40 p.m., left the roadway and went into a water-filled ditch. He was taken to the hospital treated for a broken shoulder and released. His 1960 model car was a total wreck. Sunday at 5:50 p.m., a rear-end collision occurred on Hollywood Road, resulting in damage estimated at $350. Drivers were Jamie Jeffers, Wardlaw Avenue and Stephen Steinman, Lakeshore Road. There were no injuries.

A hit and run accident was reported to police Sunday at 2 p.m. by James Bradley, 1223 Richter St. He said Friday at 2 p.m. a woman driver on Richter Street left the travelled portion of the roadway and struck a cyclist who jumped clear and was not injured. The woman failed to stop at the scene. Police have a licence number and are checking.

Damage was estimated at $500 Friday at 11:35 p.m. when a car driven by Dale Lutz, Lawrence Avenue, failed to negotiate a curve and rolled into a ditch on the Westside Road, near the Bear Creek Road. There were no injuries.

Friday at 11:15 p.m., a car driven by William Heck, 1468 Alta Vista, was struck by another vehicle on Highway 97, which failed to remain at the scene of the accident. Damage was estimated at $250. There were no injuries.

Motor, Trailer Reported Stolen

A boat trailer and a boat motor were reported stolen Friday the weekend.

Police said Gordon Tanner of Mica Creek, said his boat trailer, a 16-foot single-axle model, valued at $400, was taken from the Hurlbert Church camp.

Tommy Craft, 751 Coronation Ave., said a five-horsepower inboard was taken from Hep's Auto Service, Ellis Street, sometime in the past few days. The

THE VALLEY SCENE

A meeting of the executive of the Kelowna International Regatta Association will convene in the city hall council chamber, Thursday at 8 p.m. Committee chairmen are requested to be prepared to present up-to-date progress reports.

The Central Okanagan Regional District will hold a regular board meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Memorial Arena. C. E. Sladen, secretary, and some representatives of the municipal affairs department in Victoria may attend.

A new building recently started at the northeast corner of Lawrence Avenue and Ellis Street will be used for office purposes. Collinson Mortgage will inhabit the building, at 310 Lawrence Ave.

Butch Deadmarsh and Dave Cousins, two members of the 1967-68 Kelowna Buckaroos will play in Penfenten's first all-star hockey spectacular July 27. Deadmarsh and Cousins will join a number of B.C. Junior Hockey League, Western Hockey League and National Hockey League stars for the game.

Former Sergeants Max Hughes and Peter Schierbeck have been informed their commissions have been accepted from the board they attended in Vancouver April 9. Hughes has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant and Schierbeck promoted to second lieutenant. Both are members of the British Columbia Dragons B Squadron at Kelowna.

FUN BUT NOT TOO SAFE

A modern version of the old swimmin' hole. Hot Sands Beach in the City Park is not the only popular swimming area in Kelowna. These youths find the old ferry wharf at the foot of Queensway an ideal spot for a cool dip. The one youngster with the fishing rod can't be too happy, as there won't be many fish around after his buddies plunge into Okanagan Lake off the pilings. Swimming in such areas is not recommended by water safety officials, as often old pilings and other hazards exist below the surface. The wharf might be fun, but Hot Sands is much safer. Woods Get Hotter Fire Costs Climb

A sharp increase in the number of forest fires in the province was reported last week.

Hot weather which raised fire hazards was responsible for the 205 fires. Estimated cost for the week was $176,400, much more than the $102,000 total for the year up to the beginning of the week.

However, some relief in the hazard situation is expected this week, with the cooler temperatures.

The total number of fires for the year continues to remain well below last year's pace. For the year, including Friday, 775 fires, at a cost of $279,000, had been reported, compared with 1,211 fires, costing $750,000, for the corresponding period a year ago.

Kelowna Ranger District reports no new fires for the week, leaving the total at nine. The fire hazard is moderate, but will undoubtedly increase to high with a few warm days, says ranger H. C. Hewlett.

The Kamloops Forest District, of which the Kelowna Ranger District is a portion, reported 95 fires last week. The total for the year now stands at 357 and the firefighting costs have reached $18,200.

Of the 307 fires burning last week, 174 were extinguished during the week, leaving 133 fires still burning.

The sharpest decline in the fire situation from a year ago has been in the Prince Rupert Forest District. The area has reported 69 fires at a cost of only $4,200, compared with last year's staggering totals of 133 fires and costs of $415,200.

The Vancouver Forest District has reported 70 fires at a cost of $9,500 for the year; Prince George district 146 fires, costing $38,200 and the Nelson Forest District 133 fires, at a cost of $9,000.

The hazard is generally low to moderate in most areas of the province but the Forest Service asks everyone to continue to exercise caution.

CUPE Talks With Library

A conciliation officer was to meet with representatives of the Okanagan Regional Library and its employees at 2 p.m. today in Kelowna.

Contract and wage negotiations, currently under way between the Canadian Union of Public Employees and the regional library are deadlocked, and the union requested the appointment of a conciliation officer.

"We are seeking a rate of pay comparable to that requested of the municipalities," CUPE representative P. J. Driedger said last week.

"They are public employees in that they are paid from tax funds," he said.

The union is seeking a base rate of $321 a month. Current rate is $260.

Conciliation officer is R. S. Manning of Kelowna. Representing the library at the meeting will be Chris Jones of Salmon Arm and Mrs. Mary Gilchrist of Coldstream.

CONCERN VOICED

Most Vehicles Flunk Testing

The motor vehicle inspection finished Saturday in Kelowna and although the rejection rate declined, the over-all trend continued.

When the six-day affair concluded, 60 per cent of all units tested had flunked and only 202 of 589 vehicles were approved.

Friday, 112 cars were checked and 51 passed, while 49 received the green light the second time through.

Saturday, 77 units were tested and 21 passed; 47 per cent rejected and 31 were approved on recheck.

Results showed Kelowna motorists should be more concerned about their own safety and that of their fellow motorists.

Const. Barry Hughes, RCMP worker at the Memorial Arena inspection site said, "Kelowna drivers should have their vehicles checked more frequently with respect to mechanical condition, for their own sake and the safety of others on the highway. The percentage of rejects indicates Kelowna motor vehicles needed the inspection."

The test attracted a large number of volunteers and as many cars as could be handled. Const. Hughes believes, however, more units could have come.

"Considering the population of Kelowna," he said, "the number tested (589) was small."

'Don't Take That Ride'

RCMP in Kelowna today warned parents to caution their children against accepting rides in cars from strange men.

They said they received reports during the weekend of vehicles stopping and the driver trying to pick up little girls in the Okanagan Mission area.

Police have a description of the man and vehicle. "Parents are advised to remind their children of the danger of getting into cars with strange men," police said.

UNSETTLED weather is forecast for the Okanagan Tuesday. Skies should be mainly cloudy this evening, with a few showers or isolated thunderstorms. Sunny weather is predicted early Tuesday, with cloudy intervals in the afternoon.

Temperatures are expected to remain cool, with a low tonight and high Tuesday of 50 and 73. Winds light.

The low and high recorded in Kelowna Sunday were 50 and 74, compared with 54 and 87 on the same date a year ago.

The co-operation of motorists who used the check was good because of the 408 rejects, 200 returned for a second time."

Then, there are the people who are sure their cars won't pass; they never go near the inspection line."

Police Still Check Clues In Prowler Threat Case

RCMP in Kelowna are awaiting word from Ottawa on a set of fingerprints found in the home of the woman in the Glenmore area, who was threatened by a knife-wielding prowler during the early hours of last Wednesday.

The fingerprints do not belong to any member of the household so police sent them to Ottawa for checking in case they belong to the man for whom they are searching.

The man entered the house about 3 a.m., after cutting the telephone wires and threatened to harm the woman's two small children, if she did not comply with his indecent requests.

The man told the woman he chose her house because there was no car in the carport. (Her husband was out of town at the time.) Police said the house was the nearest one to Glenmore Road.

The man wore a nylon covering over his face and was described as about five-foot-one, slim, 110 to 120 pounds, 40 to 50 years old, with blond-grey hair and a small moustache. He was said to have a French-Canadian accent.

Police said there are about 50 French-Canadian transient orchard pickers in the Kelowna area and they are systematically checking them.

If found, the man will be charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit indecent assault, although the RCMP said since the woman was able to talk him into leaving the house, he may have intended to commit theft.

When the man left about 4 a.m., the woman called police from a neighbor's.

Although police have not revealed her name, they said she is the type to show no fear in an emergency.

Special Blood Donor Clinic Planned For Rutland Aug. 2

A Canadian Red Cross blood donor clinic will be held in the Rutland Centennial Hall Aug. 2 from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The unusual summer clinic is needed as so much blood is in demand in the summer season. Other small communities in the B.C. Interior will set up clinics the same day. The other Okanagan community is Osoyoos.

The Red Cross Society has set up the clinics in small centres because the amount of equipment it has is restricted and should serve the purpose in the small centres.

The regular fall clinic in Kelowna is held in the third week in October.

In 1968 hospitals in British Columbia will need between 85,000 and 90,000 donors to meet all patient requirements. This means 1,700 donors every week of the year will have to give blood to fill the needs. Or more specifically, 340 donors every day, five days per week must volunteer to enable the Red Cross transfusion service to meet its responsibilities to the general public.

An average of 75 patients every day of the year will receive blood transfusions in B.C. hospitals in 1968. Each of those patients who will be recipients of whole blood or blood products will know, he or she was the receiver of a gift of a voluntary donor. He will also be assured whether he or she may require five or 50 units of blood this will be provided at no cost to the patient.

This generous gift of blood is the basis of the Canadian Red Cross Society's blood transfusion service, which has worked efficiently for more than 20 years because of the more than 10,000,000 donations made by Canadians at Red Cross clinics in that period.

Red Knight's Performances Limited In Canada This Year

The Red Knight, acrobatic Jet soloist of the Canadian Armed Forces, takes to the air in early August in his brilliant red Tutor jet aircraft, on a cross-country tour of 10 centres in five provinces.

One of the ten performances will be at the Kelowna International Regatta, Aug. 7 (the Regatta's first day) at 8 p.m.

The Red Knight is named after Germany's First World War ace, Baron Manfred von Richthofen, whose daring exploits in his famous red triplane earned him the title, The Red Knight of Germany.

Flying the Canadian Red Knight's colors this year is 32-year old Capt. David A. Curran of Kingston, Ont., veteran of 10 years' jet flying in Canada and overseas.

Wearing a distinctive crest of a knight's helmet of armor with flying plume, Capt. Curran's sleek Tutor will etch a high-speed pattern of intricate manoeuvres across the sky in a series of 10 designs. Each show lasts about 15 minutes.

Trailing white smoke, the aircraft performs within the confines of an airfield, or waterfront, with commentator, Capt. Joseph G. Houlden, 34, of St. Catharines and Kitchener, Ont., describing the action from the viewers' level.

This will be the first time in the 10-year history of the Red Knight that the show will be performed in the Tutor Jet. It replaces the aging T-33 Silver Star (T-Bird).

The highspeed, high-altitude Tutor is more efficient and manoeuvrable than the T-Bird. The Tutor also was the aircraft selected by the famed Golden Centennaires, the Canadian Armed Forces acrobatic team that performed across the country during Centennial year. The Centennaires flew at last year's Regatta.

Chances Don't Appear Good For Miss U.S.A. At Regatta

What are the chances of having Miss U.S.A. attend the 1968 Kelowna International Regatta?

Chances are remote until you find that Dorothy (Didi) Anstett is a relative of a Kelowna man, Albert Anstett, 445 Glenwood Ave. Mr. Anstett said: "I'm trying my best to get her here for the Regatta. However, it is doubtful, as she is on a busy travelling schedule."

Mr. Anstett said he has not seen his cousin's daughter for several years. However, he has sent up on the progress of the 22-year-old Rutland, Wash. girl. He has received several mementoes and letters and reports from his cousin, Francis Anstett, enabling him to follow her success.

Miss Anstett was crowned Miss U.S.A. for 1968 last May in Miami Beach, Fla. and was entered in the Miss Universe contest Saturday, also in Miami Beach.

Mr. Anstett left all his American relatives behind in 1907 when he moved to Saskatchewan from Grand Forks, N.D. at the age of 12. He moved to Kelowna from Jasper, Alta. in 1960 to retire, but is now busy in a local grocery.

Miss Anstett was named fourth runner-up in the Miss Universe contest among the 63 girls entered.

Nudity And All That

(Hamilton Spectator)
Nudity, four letter words and frankness about sex are becoming so common in plays, movies, magazines and books that they are almost unremarked and in some cases are even producing yawns of boredom.

The change in public attitudes in the last decade amounts to a social revolution. Remember the outcry over "Peyton Place" (1956), "Lolita" (1958), "Lady Chatterley's Lover" (1960) and when the movie, "The Moon is Blue", was shown in a downtown theatre in 1956 and many people were deeply shocked because the word "virgin" was used and because they considered some of the embraces suggestive?

This remarkable change in attitudes does not mean that censorship is on the way to extinction. More's the pity. The pendulum of morality swings and powers of censorship swing with it.

Self-appointed censors who mistake their own prejudices for truth, stand ever ready with restrictions only awaiting an opportunity to impose them.

These people forget that it is knowledge that blushes, not innocence. Small boys who scrawl four letter words on walls (and in high-rise apartment elevators in hopes of shocking elderly ladies resident there) can hardly be called innocent.

At one time or another, the works of the greatest writers in his or her have been banned by censors. Shakespeare, Goethe, Shelley, Dante, Boccaccio, Cervantes, Whitman and Ibsen are only a few of those who have been accused of debasing people's minds and have had their works on the forbidden list. At one time Hans Andersen's fairy tales were banned, and so was Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn".

The public library in Concord, Mass., in 1885 banned Huckleberry on the grounds that it was "trash, fit only for the slums". Louisa May Alcott, famous in her days for "highly moral" tales like "Little Men", "Good Wives" and "Little Women", said: "If Mr. Clemens cannot think of something better to tell our pure-minded lads and lassies, he had better stop writing for them".

Even the frail and gentle Elizabeth Barrett Browning had her poem, "Aurora Leigh", banned in Boston in 1857. Her critics described it as "the hysterical indecencies of an erotic mind".

That's the trouble, once given power, censors don't know when to stop. Innumerable editions of the Bible, for example, have been suppressed for a wide variety of reasons. Shakespeare was badly mauled by Dr. Thomas Bowdler, a pious Scot, who took it upon himself to remove all those parts which could not "with propriety be read aloud in the family circle".

In France, Flaubert's "Madame Bovary" was banned. Zola was constantly in trouble with the censors. When Beaudelaire published his "Fleurs du Mal" he was charged with an offence against public morals. The gendarme who arrested him found Beaudelaire sitting in the cemetery of Montparnasse quietly reading Boswell's "Life of Johnson".

Censorship never dies, largely because there is a widespread and deep sense of guilt among human beings. This can be soothed by aggressive defence of an easily understandable "moral" bastion. But the guilt remains.

Nor need the offender be pictorial or literary. Sound can be obscene. It is recorded that in Philadelphia in 1935, at the first performance of Shostakovich's opera, "Lady Macbeth of the Minsk", many ladies left the theatre immediately in high and dignified dudgeon when some "obscene notes" on the trombone shocked them.

Check Passport System

(Port Arthur News-Chronicle)

The Department of External Affairs has good reason to be embarrassed over the fact that when James Earl Ray, chief suspect in the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King, was arrested in London, he had in his possession two Canadian passports, both in the name of Ramon George Sneyd.

On the inside cover of a Canadian passport is the following message:

"The Secretary of State for External Affairs of Canada requests, in the name of Her Majesty the Queen, all those whom it may concern to allow the bearer to pass freely without let or hindrance and to afford the bearer such assistance and protection as may be necessary."

The government ought to be careful for whom it requests such privileges.

As Mr. Sharp quite reasonably pointed out, it difficult to deny a person a Canadian passport when he presents an application properly notarized by a qualified, responsible sponsor. However, a Canadian passport is a prized document and there surely ought to be a more effective system of seeing that they are not handed out willy-nilly to criminals—in pairs, at that.

James Ray was an American who escaped from the Missouri State Penitentiary after serving seven years of a 20-year sentence. He got his first Canadian passport from Ottawa on April 24, almost three weeks after the King murder. For this he must have been able to produce a number of documents, including a birth certificate, which must have been forged. The RCMP will probably be showing a great interest in these documents and the courts should be severe with anyone found guilty of complicity in preparing them.

To make matters look even worse, Ray had two Canadian passports. It is against the law to have more than one. After getting from Memphis to Canada and then to Portugal via England, he obtained a second passport from the Canadian embassy in Lisbon. There could not have been much checking on why he should require the issuance of a Canadian passport in Lisbon or how he had managed to get so far without one. Obviously the system of checks is lamentably weak.

Canada's involvement in the whole sorry business was rescued by the fine work of the RCMP who studied the photographs on thousands of applications for recently issued passports and finally came across the fugitive whose picture had been supplied by the FBI. It was a fine example of international police co-operation.

The police work might have been made a lot easier if Canada's passport safeguards had been less easy to evade. It is up to the Department of External Affairs to do whatever is necessary to preserve for Canadian passports the respected status they have throughout the world.

That Old Glitter Has Gone From Orient Express Trips

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP)—Gone are the silver champagne buckets, gone the gay, gas-lighted parties rolling across Europe in aristocratic splendour, gone the shrill, proud whistle.

The Orient Express, as grandpa knew it, is no more.

The celebrated old train with its legends of patrician high jinks and cloak-and-dagger low jinks now is just a workhorse.

It still goes back and forth across Europe, from Paris to Bucharest and Istanbul, but the dukes and duchesses, the princes and playboys, the occasional spies, are not aboard.

In their places are impatient businessmen, tourists looking for scenery other than the top sides of clouds, and people who don't like airplanes.

The once-sleek train with its two teakwood sleeping cars, its gourmet dining car and two baggage wagons now hauls even second-class coaches.

This is not the proud old train whose ruler said: "To ride in the Orient Express, only first-class tickets are acceptable."

CARRIED ROYALTY

Once the train carried the Hapsburgs within and without their empire, King Alfonso of Spain used it in 1901 to visit Vienna. The German princes took it for their outings in Salzburg or Vienna or Sinaia, Romania.

King Carol of Romania and Magda Lupescu travelled on it between the wars. Enrico Caruso used it on his singing tours of Europe.

Almost any kind of a railway car can be hooked on to the Orient Express these days. Prosaic sleeping cars and second-class coaches are dropped off and picked up along the route.

There isn't much of the old romance left. The most exciting passengers the night porter between Paris and Vienna could think of were the French and Italian diplomatic couriers who came out of Bucharest regularly, bringing transistor record players with them to brighten the journey.

The only breath of splendor remaining is the magnificent scenery in Germany, Austria and Romania. Most of the trip through Hungary is completed in darkness.

The Orient Express, wartime, has been pounding through Europe's nights and days since June 5, 1983. A Belgian engineer named George Nagelmackers founded a company in 1876 to introduce international trains to Europe.

FIRST RUN IN 1883

The official inaugural of the Orient Express was on Oct. 4, 1883. Oppor de Ploewitz, a correspondent for Le Temps of Paris, went along and wrote that the train rode so smoothly that "despite the speed of 48 miles an hour you can shave during the trip."

The menus are lavish, he added. "And I should add that the meals during the entire trip from Paris to Bucharest rivalled each other in delicacies and variety."

Things are a little different these days. There is no dining car until the train reaches Stuttgart. There, a very functional buffet car joins the express to serve a good, German breakfast, nothing fancy. The dining car is dropped at Vienna.

At the Hungarian border, another dining car is hooked on for the trip across Hungary. The car is neat and clean, but the menu of goulash, roast beef, cold meats and eggs is not for the likes of the Hapsburgs.

The Orient Express, shorn of its glamor and romance, pounds back and forth between Paris and Bucharest. It takes a little over 38 hours for the trip now, compared with 57 hours in 1883.

It doesn't bring out the red carpets anymore now, but a cheerful voice over the loudspeaker in Vienna does wish you "Gute Reise"—Good trip!

—you head for the "Orient."

IN A HOLE

BOURNEMOUTH, England (CP)—The merger of Bournemouth city police force with the Dorset county force didn't place a London button company. They complained they were left with more than 2,700 useless buttons with the crest of the old city police and claimed $100 compensation to pay for them.

CRITICIZE BANK

Norway's finance committee has criticized the World Bank for lending $12,500,000 to Greece whose government was overthrown by a military coup last year.

Lions Keeping Wolf From Door At This Stately English Home

LONGLEAT, England (CP)—Lions are keeping the wolf from the door of the Marquess of Bath's ancestral home in Wiltshire.

Not that the bailiffs are yet pounding at the majestic door of Longleat, the first great classical house of the English Renaissance. But ever since Lord Bath stole a march on other stately-home owners by setting up a lion reserve in the grounds, he's been able to balance the mounting maintenance bills that were beginning to dig deep into his pocket.

The English being the animal-lovers they are, most of the 130,000 annual visitors to Longleat come to see the lions rather than the splendour, turreted Elizabethan palace in its sculptured 700-acre park. But attendance at the house has almost doubled in the 18 months since the jungle lords were installed in their 100-acre domain beyond the lake.

There are 51 of them, all circus-bred animals and relatively tame. But no chances are taken with over-curious visitors; a high steel double fence surrounds the reserve, the inner one electrified to ensure the lions will treat it with proper respect.

LIONS SIT GLUMLY

On a chill, wet day recently several were to be seen sitting glumly by the inner fence, glowering out at a party of visitors lunching on Wiltshire ham under a marquee. It wasn't difficult to picture them indulging in a few fantasies of what might happen if the fences were a few feet lower.

Each lion costs 10 shillings a day to feed, mostly on bull-ock heads. Cost of the reserve and the 15 game warden who trundle around it in an exotic leopard-patterned truck is well covered by revenue from the public, who drive through the fenced-off lanes at £1 per automobile.

When it was built in 1580 by Sir John Thorne—family name of the Bath—it cost £8,016 and one farthing, a colossal sum by Elizabeth standards. It costs three times that each year now "just to keep the rain out," says Lord Bath.

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner:

In a recent physical examination the doctor found that I have several small cysts in both breasts. He said surgery would not be necessary unless the cysts became large. Is it possible the cysts would become malignant and, if so, how would a doctor know unless they are removed and examined? Should all cysts be removed regardless of size?—MRS. K.G.

The mere fact that the doctor found several cysts is significant. It is characteristic of such cysts to appear in several locations—if they are going to appear at all.

A rule, however, does not as a rule develop in clusters. It customarily starts in one place and then spreads, and it is only late in its development that it begins to scatter new cancers throughout the body tissues.

Therefore, a doctor is relieved when several of these cysts appear, rather than a single lump being found. The single lump may be cancer and ordinarily is removed and examined microscopically. The cluster or scattering of lumps indicates cysts.

There is, I concede, a remote possibility that cancer might also just happen to start at the same place a cyst forms, but Elated by the success of his lions, Lord Bath, in partnership with a circus owner named Jimmy Chipperfield, is bringing in more wild animals this summer including 15 giraffes and an assortment of zebras, impala and other African game.

The animals ought to defeat, in a financial sense, the greatest scourge of Longleat—the death-watch beetle. The pest, which thrives on centuries-old timber, has run up a bill of nearly £100,000, half of which is met by a government grant.

COSTS SOAR

Longleat has been self-sustaining ever since the sixth marquess opened it to the public in 1947, a year after he had had to sell 42,000 acres of the 52,000-acre estate to help pay £6,000,000 taxes on his father's death.

But the costs of maintaining the huge Italianate mansion—it has 100 rooms and a window for every day of the year—have soared over the years to an annual bill of £30,000 or more. Plus the death-watch beetle, of course.

Long before the present American craze to buy up bits of historic England—like the Cunard Queen liners and London Bridge—an enterprising Mexican offered Lord Bath £1,000,000 for Longleat and its contents, and actually started writing out the cheque.

"Naturally," there was no dice," said the marquess, a tall, lean man of 82 with a sporting air. "Not a chance. I could hardly put a value on Longleat, but I can say that counting all the pictures, books, tapestries, furniture and so on, £5,000,000 would not be enough."

When it was built in 1580 by Sir John Thorne—family name of the Bath—it cost £8,016 and one farthing, a colossal sum by Elizabeth standards. It costs three times that each year now "just to keep the rain out," says Lord Bath.

A rule, however, does not as a rule develop in clusters. It customarily starts in one place and then spreads, and it is only late in its development that it begins to scatter new cancers throughout the body tissues.

Therefore, a doctor is relieved when several of these cysts appear, rather than a single lump being found. The single lump may be cancer and ordinarily is removed and examined microscopically. The cluster or scattering of lumps indicates cysts.

There is, I concede, a remote possibility that cancer might also just happen to start at the same place a cyst forms, but

Chorus Of Boos Aimed At de Gaulle

By PHILIP DEANE
Foreign Affairs Analyst

There has been a quick chorus of boos for de Gaulle's new cabinet: he is deemed to have betrayed his faithful lieutenant George Pompidou whom he has dismissed as premier, replacing him with Couve de Murville, the long-time foreign minister and recent finance minister, a professional bureaucrat of the highest ability.

Calling de Gaulle unfaithful to his friends is to misunderstand him. By this time, at his age, he sees himself more than ever before as the embodiment of France. His every public utterance makes it clear that he considers himself more than ever the chosen instrument of destiny for his country.

De Gaulle takes destiny seriously. He is much too intelligent to be viewed merely as a jealous old man dismissing a subordinate who has received a favorable press. De Gaulle tailored a constitution both for France and for himself. This charter depends for its running on the focusing of all authority on a single man, the president.

Despite the praise heaped on Pompidou by North American newspapers, there can be little doubt that he would not have won so large a majority in the recent French elections had he not been the recognized spokesman for de Gaulle. The election results show that the French people, in their fear of anarchy and dissension, turned to de Gaulle.

They turned to de Gaulle because they wanted the very opposite of what was going on in the riot-torn streets and the strike-bound factories; the French people did not want authority diffused; they wanted it concentrated in one man and there can be little doubt that this one man was de Gaulle.

De Gaulle understands that this is what his people want. In this sense, the talk about Pompidou emerging as a separate and independent focus of power can counter to what the Gaullist victory meant. The elections were a mandate for de Gaulle personally, a mandate increasing not decreasing his authority. The apparent challenger had to go, if only to emphasize that only one man has the mandate of the people in France.

Actually, if one looks on American comment about French affairs with some scepticism, one will find that the French press, as a whole, is full of admiration for the way in which de Gaulle manoeuvred in the recent crisis. What American commentators called his incapacity to act at the peak of the crisis, appears in retrospect to have been great skill—at least in the eyes of most Frenchmen—skill in giving his opponents enough rope to hang themselves while he prepared his position for striking back decisively. Many Frenchmen have been saying that in the difficult time of reform ahead, de Gaulle needs to embody the whole power of France and cannot tolerate anyone, like Pompidou, who is being touted as a possible rival.

TODAY in HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

July 15, 1968 . . .

Two months after the liberal wing in French politics won a resounding victory in a plebiscite for a new constitution, the fate of the Second Empire was sealed 98 years ago today—in 1870—when the government declared war on Germany. This followed Bismarck's publication of an altered version of the results of diplomatic talks at Emms. The French army was defeated, Napoleon III was captured and later fled to England. France had to cede Alsace and Lorraine to Germany and pay a large indemnity.

1870—Georgia, the last Confederate state, was admitted to the United States.

1870—Manitoba was admitted to Confederation.

CANADA'S STORY

David Thompson Lost Hard Race To Pacific

By BOB BOWMAN

Leo Durocher, manager of the Chicago Cubs once said "Nice guys finish last." He has had a rough-and-tumble career in baseball. Some of Canada's greatest explorers and fur-traders held the same opinion. They were the members of the North West Company, fierce competitors of Hudson's Bay Company until the two were amalgamated in 1821.

Despite their persecution of the Selkirk settlers and other cruelties, the Nor'Westers earned an honored place in history. The exploits of men like Alexander Mackenzie, Simon Fraser, and David Thompson helped to preserve the Pacific coast for Canada.

In 1800 the Nor'Westers were also competing with John Jacob Astor's fur-traders for control of the Pacific coast. David Thompson was asked to explore the Columbia River and see if it could be used as a route for the Nor'Westers.

Preparations were made in great secrecy not only because of commercial rivalry, but also because of the Piegans Indians who jealously guarded the mountain passes between the Saskatchewan and Columbia Rivers. They did not want the Kootenay Indians to get rifles from the fur-traders.

Fortunately for Thompson, two Piegans were killed by American troops, and the tribal warriors took off for the Mississippi to get revenge. Thompson was able to get to the headwaters of the Columbia accompanied by his wife, Charlotte, who carried their small baby on her back. When they came to a place where the waters ran west, now known as the Great Divide, Thompson uttered a prayer which he wrote in his diary: "May God in His mercy give me to see where these waters flow into the ocean and return in safety."

Owing to the complexities of the Columbia and Kootenay Rivers, which twist, turn, and almost intertwine, it took Thompson four years to get to the mouth of the Columbia, July 15, 1811, only to learn that John Jacob Astor's men had arrived a few weeks earlier. They had travelled from New York by ship around Cape Horn.

Later the North West Company bought the Astor post and claimed the area for Britain. It was regulated by the U.S.A. through a weird misadventure, but that is another story.

Boys And Girls Come Out To Play

With BETHEL STEELE

Last Friday night Kelowna had a band concert in city park. The weather was a bit chilly and windy, but for those smart enough to dress warmly the occasion was a pleasant reminder that it is fun to sit on the grass and listen to a fine aggregation.

The Kelowna Teen-Town played host to the West Vancouver Boys and Girls Band in Jubilee Bowl. About 200 people were on the grass and many more listened in their cars.

The band is on tour under the auspices of the Federal Youth Travel Program. This is the second year for the grant and plans are under way already for next year when it is hoped an exchange may be made with Ontario and Quebec. Sightseeing in Japan for 1970.

Most of Kelowna Teen-Town executive are presently out of town on holiday or have summer jobs and were unavailable when the band asked for sponsorship. One lone girl, Eileen Thornburn, made all the arrangements, including and publicity. Congratulations Eileen, you put many an adult to shame.

Kelowna was the last stop of a two weeks tour, starting in Penitence with a visit to the Calgary Stampede included. Teen town included a beach party in the afternoon entertainment for the musicians and this morning the group was given a farewell breakfast at the Longhorn restaurant. Quite an undertaking for one person for 80 people.

The band is a community effort, not under the aegis of the West Vancouver school district. The parents underwrite the cost of tuition, a parents' group raises the extra funds for hall rental, music and incidental expenses. Next year it is hoped a senior city band can be formed to make a place for those too old for a student organization, in other words a band to retire to.

The musical director, Leonard Whitley, is from a former Canadian armed forces band, he now plays first trumpet in the Vancouver Symphony orchestra. He is dedicated to raising the technical standards of school music having taught in schools in Alberta as well as in the university in Edmonton. He agrees that technical disciplines are at present being sacrificed in a general educational degree system and that something must be done soon to rectify the situation before too many of our young people develop wrong musical practices.

The band performed a program of favorites which included medleys from My Fair Lady and other well known musicals and movies. I liked particularly Irish Set, a collection of Irish tunes and Arrangers Holiday, a clever impression of Twinkle Twinkle Little Star in waltz, zamba and dixieland style. The marches were rousing with a fine rhythmic pulse. The instrumentation is overwhelmingly brass and because of the heavy breeze last night it would be expected a better balance than the group was able to give under the circumstances. To get a perfect blend would call for more woodwinds than were instrumented. The soft playing though had a lyrical purity which made me wish we could hear the band in our theatre. Perhaps it will come back and play there sometime. We understand there are some fine instrumentalists in the group, small ensembles are encouraged so that the intimacy of chamber music may be realized by the members.

I wonder how many Kelownians know our community no longer has a city band. There is no place for our school music students to graduate to and the district suffers since a fine band is an asset at all times. Why can't Kelowna do as Penitence does, hire a retired army bandsman to teach and direct an adult group. This was suggested to city hall here three years ago but the idea was turned down. How about it Kelowna?

Some Strange Things Happen On The Way To Presidency

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Some strange things are happening as the U.S. political campaign to pick the next president rolls along toward the nominating conventions next month.

And what the people—and not the politicians—think may provide a lot of surprises even if the conventions should be stacked in favor of Vice-President Hubert Humphrey as the Democratic candidate and Richard Nixon as the Republican nominee.

Senator Eugene McCarthy, opposing Humphrey for the Democratic nomination, has said he will not run as an independent on a fourth-party ticket if he doesn't get the nomination. But a move has begun in Massachusetts to list him as an independent in the general election next November although McCarthy headquarters disavowed the move publicly.

FAVOR MCCARTHY
The Gallup poll's latest countrywide survey showed McCarthy favored over both Nixon and Nelson Rockefeller, the New York governor who is opposing Nixon.

Humphrey also tapped Nixon but was tied with Rockefeller. The poll did not pit Humphrey against McCarthy or Nixon against Rockefeller.

Many Democrats had their antennas aimed at Huron, S.D., today to see if there was anything to hints that a third Democratic contender was going to emerge.

A caucus of the South Dakota delegation to the Democratic convention tonight was being touted as the setting for the launching of Senator George McGovern of South Dakota as a candidate.

"Unlike other favorite son bids," William Dougherty Jr., chairman of the delegation said Friday, "it appears the McGovern candidacy represents a serious effort by many delegations to find an alternative to Humphrey and McCarthy."

HEIR TO KENNEDY?

Theodore Sorensen and a number of other key men from the campaign team of the late Senator Robert F. Kennedy were to be present at a memorial dinner for Kennedy precedents for the caucus. There were other touches suggesting McGovern was being groomed as heir to the Kennedy mantle.

The drive to get McCarthy's name on the Massachusetts presidential ballot as an independent candidate was started in Weymouth Friday opposite a rally aimed at doing the same thing for George Wallace.

Wallace's rally was part of his current tour of Massachusetts communities. He is seeking petition signatures in his third party candidacy.

Massachusetts law requires independent presidential candidates to obtain 61,000 signatures by July 29 to get on the ballot.

MULTIPLIES OF $1,000

The bills are sold only in denominations of $1,000 or multiples of $1,000. The average bid Thursday for bills maturing Oct. 11 was $384.40 per $1,000. This would give the investors an effective yield of 6.35 per cent a year.

Last May 1 the yield on the three-month bills was seven per cent, and on March 30 it reached a record 7.01.

Normally, the government has $140,000,000 to $150,000,000 in treasury bills coming due each week, requiring fresh offering to "roll over" the debt, as the finance department calls it.

But since April, the government has been raising an extra $5,000,000 a week. This week, it sought an extra $10,000,000, or $165,000,000 altogether.

RESTRICTS BORROWING
The extra borrowings on treasury bills are within the framework of the government's intention to seek no more than $750,000,000 this year from investors in bonds and other government securities.

Former finance minister Sharp announced this in the Commons last Nov. 10 and Finance Minister Benson is carrying on the pledge.

U.S. Trade Commission Studies Merger Epidemic

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. Federal Trade Commission last week trained its investigative guns on the epidemic of conglomerate mergers sweeping through the business structure.

It wants to find out if these combinations of diverse companies are good or bad for the economy and the consumers.

A conglomerate merger is a rather new and an increasingly used means of creating a giant corporation out of smaller companies with varied lines of products or services.

The FTC announced it is undertaking a broad study to determine "whether new legislation may be necessary to bring the conglomerate merger movement under control."

An FTC official said the inquiry will delve into the possible anti-competitive results of such mergers, the cause-and-effect relationships between mergers and tax incentives, stock values and other matters.

The study could result in recommendations to Congress for changes in anti-trust, corporate tax and securities laws.

STUDY MERGERS

Several months ago President Johnson appointed a group of law school anti-trust specialists to study conglomerate mergers. Its report may reach Congress before that of the FTC.

The FTC has reported that 2,384 companies were acquired in 1967, up 37 per cent from 1,746 mergers in 1966. It said that about 83 per cent of all large mergers in 1967 were of the conglomerate type.

Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc., of Dallas is a classic example of a giant developed through mergers. Five years ago L-T-V was an aircraft and electronics company with annual sales of $325,000,000. Last year it had sales of $1,800,000,000 on expanded interests including meat packing, sporting goods, chemicals, pharmaceuticals, metal products and an airline. This year it acquired a 63-per-cent interest in Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., one of the biggest steel producers in the U.S.

Other big conglomerates include Gulf and Western Industries, International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., Ogdens Corp., City Investing Corp., Glen Alden Corp., Textron and Litton Industries.

In another development this week, the U.S. labor department reported a sharp rise in unemployment in June as an unexpectedly large number of young people started looking for jobs after the close of school.

The unemployment rate climbed to 3.8 per cent of the labor force from 3.5 per cent in May, which was at the lowest level in 14½ years.

The number of unemployed visas by the American counsel in Munich, West Germany, last month. They arrived in the U.S. June 27.

Knight said Belinkov suffers from a severe heart ailment and is resting at the Mayor clinic in Rochester, N.Y.

A spokesman for the Mayo Clinic said Belinkov was in the clinic from June 28 to July 3 and was no longer there. The spokesman would not say where the author went.

In a statement accompanying the purported copy of Belinkov's letter, Knight said the writer and his wife have "found asylum in the United States."

Belinkov, 46, spent 13 years in a labor camp on charges of anti-Soviet writings. He says he was not a member of the Communist party.

Defectig Writer Slams Out At Soviet 'Liars And Tyrants'

NEW YORK (AP) — Arkady V. Belinkov, a Soviet writer and literary critic long at odds with his government, has defected to the United States, with a bitter condemnation of his Communist homeland, it was announced here.

"I never considered myself a true subject of a government comprised of liars, tyrants, criminals and stranglers of freedom," Belinkov is quoted as writing June 20 in a letter of resignation to the Union of Writers of the U.S.S.R.

A translation of the letter was made public here by a lawyer, Robert H. Knight.

A state department spokesman, Robert J. McCloskey, said in Washington Belinkov and his wife, Natalya, asked for and were granted American visitors rose to 3,614,000 from 2,303,000 in May, about 200,000 more than had been anticipated.

Automobile production this week was estimated at 174,800 passenger cars, up 24 per cent from 141,280 last week and up 30 per cent from 133,989 a year earlier.

Steel output last week slipped 3.2 per cent to 2,697,000 tons—lowest since the week ended Jan. 20—from 2,785,000 tons the previous week.

PFRA To Get New Home

OTTAWA (CP)—The Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration will get a new home in a whole sale shift of agencies among federal departments announced Prime Minister Trudeau.

PFRA, the longstanding agency providing aid and support to western agriculture, will be shifted from the agriculture department to a new department of regional development.

The minister, as previously disclosed, will be Jean Marchand, who will carry the title of forestry and rural development minister until the new department is officially renamed.

Although Mr. Marchand keeps rural development, he loses the livestock feed board, supervising feed grain in Eastern Canada, to agriculture.

Most of the department switches centre on the Marchand portfolio and four other new departments being created in an attempt to improve efficiency and reduce duplication of services.

Double-Ring Rites Followed By Honeymoon To Colorado

Baskets of white gladioli and green fern enhanced St. Paul's United Church on July 6 for the double-ring ceremony uniting Deborah Anne, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Rampone of East Kelowna and Eggon Stotz, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Stotz of Kelowna.

The wedding took place on July 6 at 4 p.m. with Rev. F. H. Golightly officiating. The soloist, Mrs. Reg Martin, sang the "Hawaiian Wedding Song," and during the signing of the register, the "Ave Maria," accompanied by Mrs. Jean Gibson at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length A-line gown of heirloom lace, featuring a rolled collar trimmed with aurore borealis jewels and flounced below the elbow sleeves, with a slight graceful train at back. A tiara of aurore borealis and pearls held her shoulder-length, four-layer veil of illusion net in place and she carried a cascading bouquet of yellow roses.

Something old were the bride's earrings, something borrowed her wristwatch and a something blue a garter.

The bride's cousin Miss Donna Rampone was her maid of honor and another cousin, Miss Jane Bauer, and Miss Sharon Zarr, all of Kelowna, were the bridesmaids. The three attendants were charming in identical long dresses of yellow peau de soie draped from the bodice with nylon chiffon. They wore yellow flowers and green ribbons in their hair, strands of cultured pearls which were gifts from the bride, and they carried bouquets of green tipped white carnations tied with green ribbons.

The best man was Alfred Reglin, and the ushers were the bride's cousin Wayne Gable and Henry Reglin all of Kelowna.

At the reception held in the East Kelowna Community Hall, which was followed by a dance to the bride proposed by A. Buhman was ably answered by the groom, and the best man proposed the toast to the bridesmaids. The bride's uncle Louis Rampone was master of ceremonies and Rev. F. H. Golightly said the grace at dinner.

Centering the white linen cloth on the bride's table was a four-tiered cake baked by the bride's aunt Mrs. Fred Gable, which was beautifully decorated with lattice work and topped with bells. The cake was surrounded with the bridesmaids' bouquets.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Rampone chose a turquoise ensemble of French lace, a flowered picture hat, and a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother, who assisted her in receiving the guests, wore a two-piece navy floral printed silk complemented with a navy straw hat, navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Jim Christie and family from North Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. C. Barnes of Victoria, Mr. and Mrs. F. Franck and family and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stotz and family of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. A. Stotz of Ottawa, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. A. Jantz and family of Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. G. Stotz of Monty Lake, and Mrs. H. Dryborough of Penticton.

To travel on her honeymoon to Colorado the bride changed to a dress of floral silk accented with a white hat, white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Stotz will reside at 1490 Lawrence Ave., Kelowna.

Attending the after-five reception held for some 300 guests at the Vernon Army Cadet Camp on Thursday evening were Mayor and Mrs. R. F. Parkinson and Major and Mrs. R. J. Talbot of Kelowna.

Miss Margaret Clarke of New Westminster was a recent visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knox.

Mrs. H. Russell Chapin returned to her home at Poplar Point last Wednesday from Calgary where she had been visiting her sister Mrs. J. J. Stafford for a few days, and also attended the Calgary Stampede.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Brodie leave today for an extended holiday. Flying from Vancouver to England, they will visit their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Brodie, who will later join them on a Mediterranean cruise. Mr. and Mrs. Brodie will also travel to Switzerland and visit Ireland in the seven weeks that they will be away.

Her Responsibility To Speak For All

SASKATOON (CP) — It's hard to lose your temper at a meeting when you have to preface your remarks with "Reverend Sister" instead of "Madame Chairman."

It's hard, too, when a reverend sister knows parliamentary procedure.

Sister Mary Felicitas, the first nun to be president of the Canadian Nurses' Association, guides meetings of 1,000 members with a small but decided voice and scarcely a tap of a gavel.

She not only can keep track of amendments to amendments; she can keep delegates abreast of them.

Sister Felicitas says she's had plenty of practice in chairmanship. As director of the school of nursing at Montreal's St. Mary's Hospital, she teaches a course in professional ethics and how to conduct a meeting.

HIS MASTER'S DEGREE

A member of the Sisters of Providence, she was trained as a nurse at Moose Jaw, Sask. She earned a bachelor's degree from the University of Ottawa and a master's degree in nursing education from the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. She has directed the St. Mary's School since 1945. She assumed the CNA presidency "in mid-stream" on the death of the previous president, Katherine MacLellan, in February, 1967.

For Sister Felicitas, who became president-elect in 1966 with the prospect of two years' preparation for the presidency, the challenge meant taking charge, on short notice, of an association with 75,000 members in 10 provinces.

"The biggest problem perhaps is the size of the organization," she said. "Sometimes at meetings it's hard to give everyone a chance to express her opinions without holding up everything."

FAVORS LIMIT

A practical chairman, at large meetings she favors a limit on the time each member may speak—and enforces it.

She is chairman of the Canadian Conference of Catholic Schools of Nursing, but resigned her responsibilities in the Association of Nurses of the Province of Quebec when she took over the national presidency.

"One of the big responsibilities of a national organization is to speak for all nurses," she said.

"In unity there is strength, eh? If you're alone and you're trying to put forth something for the betterment of nursing, why, that's just you and who's going to listen to you?"

"But if we present a brief to government, for example, we can go and say we speak with the voice of 75,000."

ANN LANDERS

Abnormal Behavior Should Alert Parents

Dear Ann Landers: I'll start from the beginning and tell you my story in as honest a way as I know how, although my heart is broken and my spirit is crushed.

Our 15-year-old son was picked up with three other youths (all older) for smoking marijuana. (One of the boys was pushing it.) The teen-agers were taken to the Juvenile Section of the Los Angeles Police Department for questioning and my husband and I were called.

My husband is a professional man and we are considered responsible members of the community. When the police questioned us, it dawned on me that we were both embarrassingly ignorant. We knew nothing of the symptoms of the marijuana user although our boy had been smoking for well over a year.

We ignored the boy's drowsiness, his runny nose, his continual thirst. We didn't notice his dilated pupils, his unnaturally soft voice and his "I don't care" attitude. We attached no significance to his strange sleeping habits. (Some nights he'd walk around the house till 3:00 a.m. Other nights he'd retire at 7:00 p.m. and sleep until noon the following day.)

Had we done more reading on the subject we would have known that our son's behavior was not normal. Please print this letter, Ann. If we had seen one like it we could have obtained some help for our son before he wound up in trouble with the police.—L.A. HEARTACHE

Dear L.A.: The symptoms you describe are not always so pronounced in marijuana smokers. My consultants have suggested that perhaps your son was also sniffing a little glue and using a few Bennies. Your letter should serve to alert parents to abnormal behavior patterns, however, and I thank you for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: As I write this letter it is raining hard. I see two cardinals, a red-wing blackbird, several sparrows and a finch feeding outside my window. I've cancelled my plans to go shopping because the birds have told me it will rain all day.

Before you decide I am crazy, please let me explain. When I first shared my theory with friends and neighbors they thought I had gone bonkers, but they have tested it out and now they know my theory is correct.

People can learn a great deal from birds and animals if they observe them closely. Mother Nature has a way of warning for furred and feathered friends against impending danger. If it is raining and the birds continue to feed and don't take cover, it means the rain will pass by.

If the birds disappear when the rain begins to pour, then the shower will be brief and the sun will come out soon. It never fails.

I hope you will publish my letter, Ann. It will help your readers plan their day.

Immigrants Should Learn About Canada In Own Language

TORONTO (CP) — Ruth Gordon, editor of Canadian Scene, wants to blue-pencil the hyphen out of Canada.

Miss Gordon thinks we should all be Canadians, not German-Canadians or English-Canadians.

"This isn't the aim of immigrants," she said. "They want to remember their native land, but when they get their citizenship they want to be Canadians."

Miss Gordon is concerned that Canada accept the newcomers as people and help them over a period of adjustment.

"I'm convinced that one of the best ways is to make information available to them through their language," she said. "There is enough settling-in to new ways without insisting that English be the only means of communication."

She explained that Canadian Scene, on a budget of $28,000 a year, is a news service supplying information on history, social security, business, arts and industry to 65 newspapers in 23 languages. There is no charge for use of the material in the service.

EDITH COPP
Miss Gordon has the support of a number of university professors and Canadian writers who produce material at a nominal price for the non-profit service. And every two weeks the material is sent out in mimeographed form, in either English or translation.

Miss Gordon writes and edits the articles for the service and deals directly with the foreign language press. She knows the publishers' needs.

"They want to make information on Canada available," she said. "But many of them have to do everything from telling the ads to putting the paper together and the cost of translation is high."

"I'm no linguist, although I can read Canadian Scene in credit line—in all the translations and I consider I'm doing well when I can spell it out in Ukrainian."

TO BE MARRIED

Mr. and Mrs. Kaz. Zdobylak of Rutland are pleased to announce the engagement of their youngest daughter Teresa to Greg Scrivner, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. (Bob) Scrivner of Kelowna. The wedding will take place on Sept. 7 in Rutland. Miss Zdobylak, who completed her medical laboratory technology course at the Royal Inland Hospital laboratory, Kamloops, in June, was honored at a graduation banquet along with four other students, and was presented with a proficiency award by Dr. Glenn Martin, head of the department. The course covered two years with one year at the B.C. Institute of Technology.

Italians Are Coming Says Fashion World

ROME (AP)—French haute couture houses had better pay heed to the new trumpet call of the fashion world: The Italians are coming.

At their fall-winter showing, opening in Rome today, Italian houses seek the acclaim from buyers and critics that could make them the pacesetters in style, design and hem length.

The Italians have gained in reputation each season. In addition to their expert sewing and fine sense of beauty, they have shown the knack for the dressy little gimmick that will catch the critics' eyes.

The colors the Italians seem to favor are the muted shades of grey, navy, dark green and brown, with a prominent exception — bright zany red.

Up and coming among the newer Italian houses are Andre Laing and Sambrocco.

Laing spent four years designing for Antonelli and now has his own salon in Piazza di Spagna.

CHANGES AT KELOWNA GOLF CLUB

Golfers competing in the 1969 Ogopogo Open Golf Tournament will face a different course in the Kelowna

Golf and Country Club. Three holes, including two putting greens will be changed to take advantage of the pond in the course. Golfers will be required to hit over (or in) the pond on four separate holes. The present layout has the golfer hitting over the pond only once. The new greens are designated above by the arrows. (Courier photo)

Vernon Stops Kelowna Behind Keckalo's Hitting

Vernon Luckies, on the strength of Russ Keckalo's powerful bat, stormed to their ninth consecutive victory as they stopped the Kelowna Labatts 11-7 in an Okanagan Mainline Baseball League game Saturday in Kelowna.

The victory, coupled with their 4-0 win over Penticton Sunday, assures Vernon of at least a tie for first place as they now hold a commanding six game lead over the second place Kamloops Lelands. Reg Main spun a four hitter for their 10th straight win Sunday. In other weekend action Penticton defeated Kamloops 8-7 Saturday to move percentage points ahead of the Labatts into third place.

The standings now read:

W L	Pct.	Gbl	Gp
Vernon 16 4	.800	—	4
Kamloops 8 8	.500	6	8
Penticton 7 13	.350	9	4
Kelowna 6 12	.333	9	6

Labatts chances of overcoming second place Kamloops dimmed with the loss as they remain three games back of the Lelands. However, the two teams meet each other five more times before the season ends and this will determine the plight of the Labatts.

Keckalo, in leading Vernon to victory, slammed a pair of home runs and accounted for six runs.

His two-run blast in the opening inning lifted Vernon to a 2-0 lead and a three-run shot in a big sixth-inning was the key blow.

Entering the sixth, Vernon held a narrow 5-3 edge but they exploded for six runs sending 10 men to the plate in the inning.

A determined Kelowna rally in the final two innings couldn't overcome the big lead Vernon had built up. Labs scored four runs in the eighth and had a threat going in the ninth before winning pitcher Gordie Nuyens bore down and retired the side.

Losing pitcher Lonnie Lazzerotto was charged with nine of the 11 runs in the 5 1/2 innings he worked. However, he didn't pitch as poorly as his record indicates as four of the runs were unearned. Les Schaefer was the most effective of the three pitchers used by coach Doug Moore. He pitched scoreless relief for the final three innings.

The leadoff hitters for both teams had productive nights at the plate. Kelowna's Bob Cox picked up a pair of hits, including a home run, in three official trips and also scored a trio of runs. Luckies lead-off-hitting catcher Clark Inglis scored four of the Vernon runs and also chipped in with three singles.

The one bright spot for Kelowna occurred in the third inning when Cox and big first baseman Gerry Robertson smashed solo home runs knotting the score 3-3. Robertson's circuit clout lifted his league-leading total to seven.

Nuyens, although tagged for 11 hits, appeared to have the Labatts under control until the eighth. He struck out 11 in going the distance for the victory, his sixth of the year. Nuyens had added the role of temporary player-coach of the Luckies after his father was absent because of an illness.

Third baseman Gary Lawlor was instrumental in the Kelowna attack as he pounded out three hits and drove in another three runs. He doubled in the first to score Cox, after he had singled with the first run. His bases-loaded single was a key hit in the eighth as it scored two runs. A pair of errors on the play also cleared the bases and put Lawlor on third.

Catcher Don Favell showed opposing runners they can't take the liberty they have taken in the past on his arm. He threw out three runners attempting to steal and definitely played his best game of the season from the backstop position although he has done an average job in the past.

Les Schaefer would have been given the starting mound assignment in Saturday's game had not extra outfielder been available. Both Ron Hareus and Wayne Leonard were absent from the contest meaning Schaefer, primarily an outfielder, had to fill one of the three picket positions.

Next Labatt home game will be a crucial one when the Kamloops Lelands at the visitors. Kelowna needs a win to remain in contention for second place and evade the possibility of finishing third and meeting powerful Vernon in the semifinals of the playoffs.

Game time on Tuesday is 8 p.m.

Royals Whip Carls; Rovers Beat Willows

Royal Anne Royals served notice they'll be fighting to regain the Kelowna and District Senior B Softball League title by whalloping Kelowna Carls 14-1 Sunday at King's Stadium.

The Royals, who saw a hefty lead vanish when the Rutland Rovers found the winning touch two weeks ago, exploded for nine runs in the first two innings.

Home-run power was all the Royals needed for the victory. They got round-trippers from Norbert Korthals, Wayne Horning and Nick Bulach.

Jack Leier homered for the Carls in the final inning to ruin Gib Loseth's bid at a shutout. Loseth was in complete control most of the way, giving up just three hits and striking out 12.

Jerry Keves was the victim of the Royals' attack giving up four runs in the first inning. Don Schmidt, coming in in relief in the second inning was greeted by Bulach's homer.

Loseth helped his own cause with three hits. Korthals and Bulach also had three hits each.

The Rovers kept pace with the Royals by whipping the Willow Inn Willows 9-0 in Rutland. Ken Hehn was the winning pitcher, setting down the Willows on five hits.

Wally Sehn was the loser giving up eight hits in the seven innings he pitched. The Rovers used a familiar weapon to score their runs. They bunted in every conceivable situation.

REMEMBER WEN . . .
Bobby Jones of Atlanta, Ga., one of the world's great golfers, scored his second successive British Open triumph at St. Andrews, Scotland, 41 years ago today—in 1927. Jones, never over par for the 72 holes, scored 285, breaking the course record of 291 which had lasted since 1908.

This compares with $775 monthly under the old agreement and with $1,132 a month for 10-year veterans under the current American Football League pension plan.

Benefits for five- and 15-year veterans under the new NFL plan, which Gordy said was retroactive to 1959, were not available.

Player Wins British Open After Casper Stumbles In

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (CP)—When Gary Player and Billy Casper recall the 1968 British open golf championship the 14th hole is sure to figure in their recollections.

For Player, winner of the tournament, it will be a pleasant memory.

For Casper, holder of a one-stroke lead after the third round, the memory probably will cause him to flinch.

Player, 32-year-old South African, shot a spectacular eagle on the 14th and carded a one-over-par 73 for a 289 total and the $7,800 prize money that goes with the open championship.

Casper, of the United States, hit his drive out of bounds on the same hole and finished with a two-over-par six. It was one of a series of disasters—most of them involving putting—that cost him his lead. He finished with a six-over-par 78 and a 292 total for fourth place.

It was anybody's title until the 14th, when Player hit a three-wood shot four feet from the cup on the par-five hole and knocked in the putt to move into a two-shot lead that he held to the end.

PLENTY OF FRINGE
"That did it—that did it," Player said after winning his second British Open title. He won his first British title in 1959. His last major victory was the U.S. Open in 1965 when he picked up $20,000 in prize money, compared with the relatively modest proceeds from the British Open. However, the British title is rich in prestige and fringe benefits are estimated at $100,000.

Bob Charles of New Zealand, winner of the 1968 Canadian Open, and Jack Nicklaus of the United States, the pre-tournament favorite, finished in a tie for second with 291 totals and each picked up about $4,500. Both Nicklaus and Charles were back and neck with Player until the 14th hole when the South African had his sensational hole.

Charles still had a chance on the 14th but also took a shot on the 15th hole and saw the title slip from his grasp. Nicklaus shot a 73 and Charles a 75.

Miss Bardahl Tops Hydros

The worst thing the United States' top unlimited hydroplane drivers could do was beat Billy Schumacher in the season's opening race.

He hasn't lost since. The Seattle speedster powered his Miss Bardahl to victory last week in the Indiana Governor's Cup race at Madison, Ind., picking up his second consecutive win.

The Indiana race was the third of the year, although five more to have been run by now. The President's Cup at Washington was postponed after Sen. Robert Kennedy was killed and rough water forced postponement of the Gold Cup in Detroit. Both events will be held later in the year, with six race dates remaining on the nine-stop thunderboat circuit.

After two years of running for the British Columbia Cup at Kelowna, the giant hydros will not make a Canadian stop this season. The closest the unlimited jockeys will get to Kelowna is Couer d'Alene, Idaho, August 11.

Following are the top 10 boats and their points standings, after the three events to date: Bardahl, 3,100; My Gypsy, 2,444; Notre Dame 2,125; Eagle Electric, 2,100; 1,861; Budweiser (the winner here last year), 1,503; Atlas Van, 1,482; 1,482; Savan's Lady, 1,482 and Miss Madison, 1,379.

Top 10 drivers in order are: Billy Schumacher, Tommy Fulls, Jack Rojas, Warner Gardner, Bill Muncey, Walter Kade, Dean Chenoweth, Bill Sterett, Jim McCormick and Ed O'Halloran.

Dates remaining on the Thunderbolt trail are July 21 at Penticton, Aug. 4 at Seattle, Aug. 11 at Eugene, Aug. 18 at Washington, D.C., Sept. 1 at Detroit, and Sept. 22 at San Diego.

Ticehurst Wins Ogopogo; Breezes In For Victory

By ALJE KAMMINGA
Courier Sports Editor

Bert Ticehurst stumbled for two holes, then rallied with perfect golfing weather with temperatures near the 70-degrees mark. In spite of the weather, no golfer was able to break 70 and only Russell and Denk broke par.

Ticehurst, who led the 54-hole tournament from the opening day, took a five stroke lead going into the final five holes. But he ran into trouble on the 14th and 15th holes and saw his lead dwindle to two strokes.

The Vancouver golfer plunked his ball near the lake by the 14th hole and was forced to take a two-stroke penalty. He then bogied the short 15th when his tee-shot found a bunker on the left side of the green.

He birdied the par-five 16th, bogied the short 17th and missed an eagle putt on the 18th. Defending champion Johnny Russell, playing in the same foursome as Ticehurst, finished in a second place tie with Gene Denk of Okan. Wash. He missed good birdie chances on the 11th and 14th holes that could easily have pulled him into a tie with Ticehurst.

Denk, a five-handicapper, fired a two-under par 70 on the final day to move into the second place tie. Ticehurst had a 72 to go with his opening 68 and second-round 70.

Russell had consistent rounds of 72, 71 and 71. Gordon McKenzie of Vancouver, nearest to Ticehurst when the final round got under way, settled for a 74 and a 215 total, five shots back of the leader. Denk's round was the best of the day and gave him the low net total for the tournament. Bill McGhee of Kelowna rallied for a final-round 73 to win the low Interior Title. He had earlier rounds of 70 and 77.

The final round was played in perfect golfing weather with temperatures near the 70-degrees mark. In spite of the weather, no golfer was able to break 70 and only Russell and Denk broke par.

Gary Puder of Vancouver matched par and tied McKenzie in third spot with a 215 total. Bruce Pelmore of Nelson, who shared the opening day lead with Ticehurst, had a 79 and finished well back with a 222 total.

More than 200 golfers competed in the tournament and tournament organizer Frank Feist described the three-day event as "one of the most successful ever."

A large gallery, increasing in size as the day wore on, followed the top foursome of Ticehurst, Russell, Puder and Jack Grundle. Grundle had the highest score of the foursome, a two-over par 74.

The tension reached a peak on the 16th hole when Ticehurst's lead was only two strokes and he appeared shaken after adding three strokes to par on the two preceding holes. But he cracked out a tremendous drive on the par-five 16th, placed his second close to green and tapped in for a birdie four. Russell, approached poorly and settled for a par, restoring Ticehurst's three-stroke lead.

Both bogied the 17th while Russell parred the 18th.

Ticehurst and Russell have now won the last three Ogopogo tournaments. Ticehurst took the title in 1966 while Russell won in 1967.

Sweet Taste Of Success For Deuschel And Funk

By RON ALLERTON

Fred Deuschel made the most trips into victory lane and found happiness—but Ab Funk tasted the long-awaited sweetness of success Saturday at the Billy Foster Memorial Speedway.

Deuschel in his Blue Angel early-late, was the only triple winner in the second of at least four night racing dates.

But Funk, who has watched with frustration while Drew Kitch and his own way in the B modified class, finally got his car humming and gave racing fans some fine action and Kitch a warning.

A good sized crowd of 906 watched 27 drivers put their cars through 135 laps in 14 events.

Pushing Deuschel's three wins for top honors were Funk, Kitch and Ken Foster, each with a pair of victories, as nine drivers shared 14 wins.

Four visiting drivers from Langley in the C modified class did extremely well in their first turns around the quarter mile track, picking up two wins; one second and three thirds in the six C class races.

The night's main casualties were an Alberta racing fan and a Nelson spectator's car. The trouble came in the early-late first heat; when Bob Morcombe's car lost a wheel in the north corner. The flying wheel hit Doug Carlson, of Trenchu, Alta., in the chest, then smashed the windshield of an unidentified Nelson man's car. The Alberta man was taken to hospital for a check, but was not believed seriously hurt. The wheel hit him in the arms and chest, as he stood in a section which spectators enter at their own risk.

Deuschel, best in the early-late time trials, powered out of his pole position to win the class trophy dash, with Gary Williams second. There was no third, as Bruce Halquist got the black flag for knocking Bob Morcombe out of the race in the second last lap.

Lyle Hickson, fastest in the C modified trials for the past four weeks, again took the class trophy dash, with Earl Stein second and Langley's Dave Angus third.

The first re-start of the day came in the B modified trophy dash, as Kitch was bumped in the south corner. Kitch, pushed hard by Funk, came on to become the track's first driver to win 20 races this year. Funk, charging a bit too hard, spun in the last corner and watched Neil Roth and Pete Smirl motor in second and third. Roth, with a car which looks completely new, promises to be much more competitive in coming weeks.

The second re-start was needed in the early-late first heat, before Deuschel picked up his second win of the day, followed by Halquist and rookie Bruce Kitch.

Regular early-late driver Joe Sabatino tried to enter the race in Glen Hutchings outland car, but was chased out. Sabatino, building a new car, plans to be back in action this Saturday.

Gary Marshall drove into a long lead in the C modified slow heat and appeared headed for victory when his car acted up and he quit in the third lap. Ken Foster came on to lead the rest of the way, roaring past starter Ralph Foster's checkered flag ahead of Art Fiset and Frenchy Dumont.

Funk finally proved he can compete on even terms with Kitch in the B modified first heat, as he was all the way and showed Kitch and Smirl the way across the line, in a race cut off after seven laps because of a lack of cars.

Halquist repeated Funk's success in the next race, as he led all the way in the early-late second heat, crossing the line ahead of Deuschel and Morcombe.

Langley's Dave Angus was an easy winner in the C modified fast heat, but the real race was for second, between Hickson and Langley's Norm Andrews. They almost knocked wheels leaving the last turn, with Hickson crossing the line only inches ahead of the visitor.

Langley's Vince Dinsmore ran away with the C modified second slow heat, as three drivers shared the lead through the first four laps. Following Dinsmore across the line were Boesel and Wayne Higgins.

The B modified second heat was stopped after six laps, as Kitch and Smirl were the only drivers left on the track. Kitch won, with Smirl second.

Earl Stein gave racing fans their sixth flip of the year in the second last of the C modified second fast heat. Stein turned over on his roof in the north turn, but his tough safety equipment prevented injury. Ken Foster, who led from start to finish, showed Hickson and Langley's Norm Andrews the way across the line.

Another car shortage caused the early-late main event to be cut to seven laps from 15. Deuschel picked up win number three, with Morcombe second and Halquist third.

Funk, who has picked up a big following of fans, ran without a clutch, still managed to win the 15-lap B modified main event, easily—the night's most exciting race. Funk led from the start, with Kitch right on his tail. Kitch moved inside and got the lead in the second lap. He appeared headed for victory but Funk came back tight inside in the last lap and showed the way across the line for Kitch and Smirl.

Twelve cars started, but only nine managed to finish the 25-lap C modified feature race, which had a three-car smash in the south corner, knocking two cars out of the chase. Fiset led through the first seven laps, but spun and left the track. Stein, who thought seriously about quitting the racing game after flipping earlier in the night, came on in the seventh lap and led the rest of the way. Langley's Andrews was second, with Foster third.

Racing resumes Saturday, rain or shine, with time trials at 6 p.m. and the first green flag goes down at 7 p.m.

Valley Athletes Selected For Oregon Track Meet

GEORGE ATHANS JR.
... impressive

Second Place For George

George Athans Jr. of Kelowna made an impressive showing last weekend in the U.S. Master's Water Ski Tournament being held at the Gallo-way Gardens in Georgia.

Athans placed second in tricks with 4,300 points, 300 more than the U.S. champion Ricky McCormack. Alan Kempton, 1967 world champion placed first.

Athans also finished second in the slalom trials with a time of 36 mph.

A total of 30 skiers from throughout the world competed in the tournament with Athans the only one from Canada. He was also the youngest skier in the field.

Athans now goes to Montreal to train for the Canadian National Water-Skiing Championships.

The official make-up of the team representing the Okanagan Track and Field Club in a dual meet with Newberg, Ore. was announced last week.

Thirty-nine athletes were named to the team.

Two of the brighter lights on the Okanagan team have run into a problem of conflicting interests. Brock Aynsley, B.C.'s aggregate winner in the provincial high school meet last month in Vancouver, and Kathy Langham, B.C. shot put champion, have been selected to compete for British Columbia in a dual meet with Washington State Saturday. They were expected to join the B.C. team.

The meet will be run with three competitors from each club per event. The top three finishers will be judged on a 5-3-1 point system with the highest aggregate total at the day's end to be the winner.

The Oregon meet will be run in two divisions, 15 and under and 16-19. Leading the list of juvenile and junior boys, was originally Aynsley who with his 48 second plus 440 and strong performances in other events was expected to anchor a strong team in this section.

He will be backed up by Ivars Dravinski of Rutland, a strong threat in the long jump events. Armstrong's Roy Boss is a threat in the hurdles, and is a close second to Dravinski in the long jump and triple jump.

Vernon's Gary Wheelhouse is hopefully aiming at a six foot plus jump again. Enderby middle distance runner, Erle Archer will be backed up by Rutland's Bob Sinclair. Bert Gillman will compete in the mile and two mile events.

Salmon Arm's John Master-

BROCK AYNSELY

joined by Vernon's Dennis Novitsky and Dennis Kaulback, Rutland's Paul Krymusa, Ken Angus, Ron Smith, Wade Zieske and Randy Runner; Salmon Arm's Steve Husband and Phil Letham.

On the girls' side Revelstoke's Gail Piatelli will join Lumby's high jump ace Mary-Ellen Deuling and Westbank's Muriel Neale in the juvenile division. Should Kathy Langham also decide to make the trip her 40 foot plus shot put efforts would be a great asset.

Filling out this division will be Becky Danalanko from Armstrong, Terry Kelly from Lumby, Georgina Chong from Vernon, Sandy Gulliford from Salmon Arm and Vivian Harris from Rutland.

In the midjet girls division Jane Collingwood from Kelowna heads an impressive list. Rosemary Pinter is a solid threat in the 440 and 880 races. Completing the team are Shelly Wheeler of Revelstoke, Leslie Hilton of Vernon, Diane Allingham and Eileen Gatzke of Winfield, Linda Newton, Wendy Treadgold and Chris Hannibar of Rutland.

Lopez Returns To White Sox By Defeating Senators Twice

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Al Lopez is back in business—and so is the American League pennant race.

Of course, one has nothing to do with the other—Senior Lopez and his Chicago White Sox are 18 games removed from first place—but they're both nice to have around.

Manager Jim Lemon of Washington had a hunch what was coming when he said to Lopez before Sunday's action, "I just lost three straight to the new manager in Baltimore; what are you going to do to me?"

The answer was a double-header sweep—7-2 and 6-5 in 10 innings—as the White Sox celebrated the return of Lopez as manager.

Elsewhere, Detroit lost to California 7-3 and saw its league lead sliced to 7½ games as second-place Baltimore beat New York Yankees 6-4. Cleveland topped Minnesota 6-3 and the surging Boston Red Sox rallied to knock off Oakland 5-3.

LOPEZ PLEASED

"That was a nice way to break in," said Lopez, who resigned following the 1965 season after nine years as White Sox manager. He came out of retirement when Eddie Stankiewicz stepped down Friday.

Chicago won the opener on Jack Fisher's three-hit pitching and the slugging of Tommy Davis, who batted in two runs with a first-inning double and two more with a triple in the second. Frank Howard whacked his 28th homer for the Senators.

A three-run rally tied the score in the seventh inning of the nightcap and the Sox won it on 10th-inning singles by Gerry McNertney, Wayne Causey and Luis Aparicio.

A week ago, Detroit was threatening to make a joke of the pennant race. But the Tigers have lost three of four since the All-Star break while Baltimore has won four in a row under new skipper Earl Weaver.

California's Vic Davalillo homered off Earl Wilson and Kick Reichardt cracked a two-run homer before the first inning was over.

A double by Davalillo and Don Mincher's single produced another run in the third and Bobby Knop stroked a two-run single in the fourth as the Angels ran up a 6-0 lead.

YANKEES DOWNED

Baltimore smashed 13 hits, including a two-run homer by Boog Powell, but needed a strong relief job by Eddie Watt before downing the Yankees.

The Yanks trailed 6-1 after seven innings but Roy White hit a two-run homer in the eighth and ninth-inning singles by Jack Gibbs and Bobby Cox knocked out Dave Leonhard. They fanned pinch hitter Bill Robinson and after Horace Clarke singled home a run, also struck out Mickey Mantle and White. The Orioles trail Detroit by only six games in the all-important loss column.

Cleveland's Luis Tiant, who had shut out Minnesota twice previously, lasted only six innings and settled for a 6-3 triumph with relief help from Stan Williams. It was Tiant's sixth straight victory and gave him a 15-5 record.

The Indians ripped into Jim Merritt for three runs in the opener on a two-run single by Joe Azcue and Jose Cardenal's sacrifice fly.

The defending champion Red Sox made it three wins in a row and 11 in their last 12 games by rallying to top Oakland. Handcuffed on three hits over seven innings by John "Blue Moon" Odom, the Sox erupted for four runs in the eighth and turned the game around.

Singles by Jose Tartabull, Mike Andrews and Dalton Jones loaded the bases and brought on reliever Paul Lindblad. Carl Yastrzemski belted a shot off Lindblad's leg, the ball ricocheting into left field for a game-tying two-run double. Jack Aker then came on and yielded sacrifice flies to Ken Harrelson and Rico Petrocelli.

Lopez Returns To White Sox By Defeating Senators Twice

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Al Lopez is back in business—and so is the American League pennant race.

Of course, one has nothing to do with the other—Senior Lopez and his Chicago White Sox are 18 games removed from first place—but they're both nice to have around.

Manager Jim Lemon of Washington had a hunch what was coming when he said to Lopez before Sunday's action, "I just lost three straight to the new manager in Baltimore; what are you going to do to me?"

The answer was a double-header sweep—7-2 and 6-5 in 10 innings—as the White Sox celebrated the return of Lopez as manager.

Elsewhere, Detroit lost to California 7-3 and saw its league lead sliced to 7½ games as second-place Baltimore beat New York Yankees 6-4. Cleveland topped Minnesota 6-3 and the surging Boston Red Sox rallied to knock off Oakland 5-3.

LOPEZ PLEASED

"That was a nice way to break in," said Lopez, who resigned following the 1965 season after nine years as White Sox manager. He came out of retirement when Eddie Stankiewicz stepped down Friday.

Chicago won the opener on Jack Fisher's three-hit pitching and the slugging of Tommy Davis, who batted in two runs with a first-inning double and two more with a triple in the second. Frank Howard whacked his 28th homer for the Senators.

A three-run rally tied the score in the seventh inning of the nightcap and the Sox won it on 10th-inning singles by Gerry McNertney, Wayne Causey and Luis Aparicio.

A week ago, Detroit was threatening to make a joke of the pennant race. But the Tigers have lost three of four since the All-Star break while Baltimore has won four in a row under new skipper Earl Weaver.

California's Vic Davalillo homered off Earl Wilson and Kick Reichardt cracked a two-run homer before the first inning was over.

A double by Davalillo and Don Mincher's single produced another run in the third and Bobby Knop stroked a two-run single in the fourth as the Angels ran up a 6-0 lead.

YANKEES DOWNED

Baltimore smashed 13 hits, including a two-run homer by Boog Powell, but needed a strong relief job by Eddie Watt before downing the Yankees.

The Yanks trailed 6-1 after seven innings but Roy White hit a two-run homer in the eighth and ninth-inning singles by Jack Gibbs and Bobby Cox knocked out Dave Leonhard. They fanned pinch hitter Bill Robinson and after Horace Clarke singled home a run, also struck out Mickey Mantle and White. The Orioles trail Detroit by only six games in the all-important loss column.

Cleveland's Luis Tiant, who had shut out Minnesota twice previously, lasted only six innings and settled for a 6-3 triumph with relief help from Stan Williams. It was Tiant's sixth straight victory and gave him a 15-5 record.

The Indians ripped into Jim Merritt for three runs in the opener on a two-run single by Joe Azcue and Jose Cardenal's sacrifice fly.

The defending champion Red Sox made it three wins in a row and 11 in their last 12 games by rallying to top Oakland. Handcuffed on three hits over seven innings by John "Blue Moon" Odom, the Sox erupted for four runs in the eighth and turned the game around.

Singles by Jose Tartabull, Mike Andrews and Dalton Jones loaded the bases and brought on reliever Paul Lindblad. Carl Yastrzemski belted a shot off Lindblad's leg, the ball ricocheting into left field for a game-tying two-run double. Jack Aker then came on and yielded sacrifice flies to Ken Harrelson and Rico Petrocelli.

Tradition A Sinking Ship For Henley Royal Regatta

HENLEY ON THAMES (CP)

The Henley Royal Regatta is thinking of throwing tradition to the wind to stay in business as a top international sport event.

The British press criticized the rowing event for its lack of seeding and conflict of dates that prevented top European teams from competing.

"This is not a competition, it's an event," said an official of Cornell University, defending champions in the Thames Cup event—who were crushed by England's Leander Boat Club by four lengths.

Cornell was drawn against Harvard University in their first race, and won through to the final.

"I feel that you can't get the best crew winning in these ridiculous circumstances," the Cornell spokesman said.

"Leander may have been the better crew, but how can we know this for certain?"

WORTH 2 LENGTHS

Rowing experts estimated the unfavorable right-hand position drawn by Cornell in the finals was worth up to two lengths to the opposing crew and carried a big psychological disadvantage.

Floodwaters made the current on one side of the Thames faster than on the other.

The wrong-side current this year made such a difference that London University, winning eight finals in the Grand Challenge Cup, offered to give Oxford a one-length head start because of the conditions. Oxford refused, and lost.

By tradition only two boat races are run along the one-mile, 550-yard course at Henley. But officials now are seriously considering changing to a four-lane 2,000-metre stretch in line with other modern courses.

"That would mean losing off a piece of land here and there, but we are seriously discussing it," said regatta chairman John Garton.

"We certainly are sorry not to have had so many of our overseas friends here this year but we hope they'll be back next time," Garton added.

DATES CLASHED

The powerful East German crews who swept the board here in the last two years regard the event as a good warmup for the European championships. But this year Henley clashed with these championships and the East Germans and other European crews had no choice but to skip the British event.

Officials announced that next year the regatta will be moved back to its usual first week in July. The date was altered this year because examinations made it impossible for some British schools to attend at the usual time.

The big surprise of the regatta was the remarkable performance of the relatively unknown schoolboy crew from J. E. B. Stuart high school of Falls Church, Va.

These tough youngsters won the Princess Elizabeth Cup—premier prize of English schoolboy rowing—with a spirited win over Eton College, despite being drawn in the unfavorable position.

Only in their third year of rowing, the Virginia boys had to buy their own boat for $3,000 as the school does not include rowing in its sports calendar.

BEAT RIDLEY

The American schoolboy eight had advanced toward the final by defeating Ridley College of St. Catharines, Ont., the Canadian scholastic champion, Thursday.

In Saturday's semi-final, the Americans eliminated Nautical College of Pangborn, England, while Eton defeated England's Bryanston school.

Other final winners Saturday, all involving British crews: Cherwell Boat Club, Ladies' Challenge Cup for eights.

Jerry Sutton and Pat Sharp, Silver Goblets for paired oars.

The Tideway Scullers school, Prince Philip Cup for coxed fours.

London's Imperial College, Visitors' Challenge Cup for coxless fours.

Tideway Scullers school, double sculls.

Hugh Wardell-Yerburgh, diamond scull.

Nautilus Club, Stewards' Cup for coxless fours.

Severn Scullers Rowing Club, the Wyford Cup for fours.

National League Hitters Show Impressive Power

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's the pitcher's year. They've been saying it all along. And now Don Wilson comes along and makes another big point for the case, matching a couple of strikeout records.

But the opposition has some dandy points, too—such as Hank Aaron, Billy Williams and Richie Allen.

Wilson tied the modern major league records of 18 strikeouts in a nine-inning game and eight in a row Sunday as Houston whipped Cincinnati 6-1 in the nightcap of a doubleheader.

BELTS 500TH HOMER

And now, for the opposition, we give you:

—Aaron, who ended a week of frustration by belting his 500th homer—a three-run shot that carried Atlanta past San Francisco 4-2.

—Williams, who unloaded a tie-breaking grand slam—the fourth of his career—to give Chicago a 6-2 conquest of Pittsburgh.

—Allen, who had a homer in each game and six RBIs as Philadelphia breezed past New York Mets 5-3 and 9-2.

Rampaging St. Louis held on to its 9½ game lead by stopping Los Angeles 5-1, and the Astros took their opener with the Reds 5-4 in 10 innings in other National League activity.

EQUALS FELLER

Wilson, who pitched a no-hitter against Atlanta last summer, whittled a called third strike past Johnny Bench to end the game and equal the record set by Cleveland's Bob Feller exactly 30 years ago and matched by Los Angeles' Sandy Koufax in both 1959 and 1962.

Wilson said he was aiming for the record after the third inning, and when Bench came so bat, I was saying to myself, "Please don't rain."

Rain skirted the field all afternoon, and there was a downpour after the final out.

Don fanned the side in the first three innings, but issued a walk to Alex Johnson with one out in the first. The eight straight strikeouts tied the modern record set by Max Surkont of Milwaukee in 1953 and tied twice since.

RECORD SET IN 1884

The all-time record of nine was set in 1884 by Michael Welch of the New York National League club.

"I knew it was gone as soon as I hit it," said Aaron of the 400-foot blast over the left-center field fence that made him the eighth player in the majors to reach the 500 level.

"I'm glad I hit it off a guy like (left-hander) Mike McCormick, who won the Cy Young award last year," cracked 34-year-old slugger. "It might be a little tainted if it came off some third or fourth-line pitcher."

The victory went to rookie Ron Reed, 9-4, who had a shut-out going until the eighth.

Allen delivered three runs with his 17th homer and a double in the opener with the Mets, then picked up three more RBIs with a two-run blast and a sacrifice fly in the nightcap.

Johnny Briggs also had two homers for the Phils in the second game.

St. Louis' Larry Jaster, who has scored eight of his 30 career major league victories against Los Angeles, blanked the Dodgers on five hits before running into a last-inning jam.

Jaster, 7-4, gave up a second inning single to Bob Bailey, but then retired 17 men in a row set by Cleveland's Bob Feller exactly 30 years ago and matched by Los Angeles' Sandy Koufax in both 1959 and 1962.

The Cards combined doubles by Julian Javier and Curt Flood and Mike Shannon's sacrifice fly for a 3-0 lead in the first.

Shannon hit his 12th homer in the fourth.

The bidding:
West North East South
1♥ Dble Pass 1♠
3♥ 3♠ Pass 4♠
Pass Pass Dble

Opening lead—king of hearts.

This deal occurred in the 1956 match between France and the United States and produced a substantial gain for the American team.

When Field and Stayman of the U.S. played the North-South cards, the bidding went as shown. Undoubtedly the game undertaking was optimistic and declarer should have gone down one, but the defense slipped badly and South made the hand.

Ghestem led the king of hearts, which held, and was faced with the problem of what to play next. Had he led the ace and another diamond, the contract inevitably would have gone down, but instead he led the ten of diamonds at trick two.

When dummy followed low, East (Bacherich) assumed that the ten lead had probably come from a holding of 10-9-8 or Q-10-8, and he therefore followed low.

As a result of the mix-up, declarer not only made the doubled contract but came home with an overtrick for a score of 690 points. He won the diamond with the queen, cashed the A-K of trumps and A-K of clubs, and discarded a diamond on the jack of clubs.

After ruffing a club, declarer returned to dummy by trumping a heart and discarded his last diamond on dummy's fifth club. The only tricks he lost were a heart and a spade.

Ghestem's ten of diamonds play was made on the basis that South might have the K-9-x or K-9-x-x, in which case the only way of establishing two diamond tricks would be to lead the ten. While this might have been the case, Ghestem should have dismissed the possibility in favor of the ace of diamonds lead.

For his double, East was bound to have either a trump trick and a minor suit trick, or else two minor suit tricks. Cashing the ace of diamonds at trick two was therefore sure to beat the contract.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
This day's stellar influences warn against carelessness in business and financial matters. Be particularly careful where details are concerned. In the late p.m. hours, aspects will be more generous, will especially favor social functions and group activities generally.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that you have great cause for optimism now — especially where personal interests are concerned. With the exception of brief periods during next March and June when you yourself may initiate some friction, there will be great emphasis on pleasant family relationships and, in September, late December, next April and May, sentimental interests should prove unusually interesting. If you've a yen for travel, most propitious periods for "taking off" during the next 12 months will occur in September, October, next February, May and June.

Career and financial matters will also be generously influenced during most of the year ahead, and you should be able to make considerable progress along both lines. Look for excellent cycles, from a material standpoint, between December 15 and February 15; also in late April and the entire months of May, June and July, of 1969. It will be important, however, that you avoid extravagance and take no chances with assets during the next five months. Be especially conservative during November and December, in creative enterprises—and many Cancerians are — should find September, December, next February, March and June highly stimulating, both from the standpoint of inspiration and recognition.

A child born on this day will be extremely realistic, intellectually inclined and unusually proficient in anything he undertakes.

Highlanders Fight Again

EDINBURGH (AP) — Scotland today launched a fight to save one of its proudest old legions, the legendary Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders.

The green-kilted Argylls are due for disbandment under defence cuts announced Thursday. Civic leaders immediately announced a protest, petition and said they aimed at 100,000 signatures.

The campaign has considerable political significance in Scotland, where the "home rule" Scottish Nationalist party has recently shown striking gains. Members of both parties, the governing Laborites and Opposition Conservatives, believe the disbandment could provide telling ammunition for the "Nats."

The Argylls, led by the wail of 15 bagpipers, fought their most recent battle last year in quelling guerrillas in the furnace heat of Aden's notorious Crater district.

A Highlander was the first British soldier to win the Victoria Cross in the Korean war. Highlanders fought the Stern Gang in Palestine in 1948, crushed the Indian mutiny at Lucknow in 1857, and held the "thin red line" at Balaclava in the Crimea in 1854.

MAY WAS SOGGY
The New York area had its wettest May in 20 years, the United States weather bureau reports. It measured 7.08 inches of rain—3.5 inches more than normal.
